Suggestions From Dr. Gallant

- Do an “environmental scan” of your community and political environment to be able to retool and create relationships.
- The RADAR Network needs to build on the successes of the past 13 years.
- At some point, work to get on the agenda at the NPN and NASADAD conferences.

Support The RADAR Network

- Contact the First Spouse and make your resources and services known to them in support of the First Spouses' Initiative. Demonstrate how you can help them further their agenda through your contacts throughout the community/state.
- Go home and write letters to your elected officials regarding the importance of the RADAR Network and value of the conference.

Support The RADAR Network

- Examine how your political environment has changed and determine how the key stakeholders view the RADAR Network and it's value, services, and overall importance.
- Present reports and/or presentations to your colleagues, stakeholders, and the public highlighting the RADAR Network conference.
- Add a RADAR Network section on your web site.

Support the RADAR Network

- Market yourself to the community coalitions in your area.
- Reinforce the importance of the RADAR Network within your own organization.
- Take time out of your busy schedule to write letters of thanks to the superiors of people hosting conferences, making presentations, and assisting you do your job better in anyway.

One World, One Heart (adapted)

We must talk until there are no words
We must explain until everything is understood
We must be honest until nothing is hidden
We must listen until everything has been said
We must question so that we know why
We must be fair so that everyone's basic needs are met
If there is no communication there will be no bond
If there is no bond there will be no RADAR Network
